Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Thank you for your prompt reply to my letter about seeing you for an interview, but as you may remember, it snowed quite heavily that day (Tuesday, 7th Feb.) and we could not get to you. I am still interested in seeing you, more than ever now. Our project is mostly been reading, but we are going to the Archives over our Spring Vacation [March 15th to April 6th]. Concerning those dates, would it be possible to see you sometime then? I know how your schedule must look, I have recently bought Whitewash II and it is a terrific piece of work! Whitewash III, as you told me, is coming out soon and I have ordered that by mail.

Whitewash II is a smashing work and has had quite an impression on our group. (We have also written an article about our work so far in a school newspaper, and it has sparked quite an interest.) I wanted to ask you about that D. H. Garrison, I think his name is. What is he been doing? I have heard of the "possible" conspiracy, which I have believed long ago, and that he is going to collect a few people for prosecution! This may be quite a step. This D. H. resides in New Orleans and he may have cracked the whole thing, I don't know.

I appreciate your patience in my case, because I know how you must be working to publish Whitewash III. It is very interesting and I hope we could see you over our children. I say we, because another friend and fellow-researcher might be able to come down also. This is entirely at your convenience though; we have more time than you, and don't want to interrupt any of your valuable work. If you could not see us over our vacation, maybe sometime in April, preferably a weekend.

Thanks again for your cooperation and patience with us, and many many congratulations on Whitewash, Whitewash II and all your invaluable effort.
